WOULD LIMIT ARMS MAKING

TOO MANY REVOLVERS, JUDGE DAWSON BELIEVES.

HOME LIFE SLIPPING

Boys And Girls Need Aid Of Wise Parents, George Pat Wright Tells Class.

By prohibiting the manufacture and sale of revolvers, except for government use, Congress could reduce crime in the United States at least 90 per cent, Judge John M. Dawson told members of the Men's Bible Class of the First Baptist Church yesterday morning.

It was "Good Citizenship Day" at the Baptist Church and all services were appropriate to the occasion. Judge Dawson and George Pat Wright, prosecuting attorney, made talks at the meeting of the men's class. Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell and Mayor W. O. Garrett were also present at the meeting.

The Rev. Guy L. Prather, pastor of the church, is the teacher of the class. About seventy men were present yesterday.

Judge Dawson called attention to the large number of crimes being committed throughout the country today. He said that America leads the world in murder and robberies. Most of the offenders, the judge believes, come from the large cities of the country. Here, organized bands of criminals ply their trade protected, in a good many instances, by the political organization in control of municipal affairs.

"There is too much politics in this country of ours," Judge Dawson continued. "The ignorant alien is made the tool of the political boss and the foreigner votes for or against things he knows nothing about."

Citizens Should Co-operate.

The ceaseless activity of all officers and the co-operation of the citizens is needed for the rigid enforcement of the laws, the jurist said. Not only should the man who steals property be punished but also the one who buys it, he added.

"But when our officers are doing their very best to enforce the laws, we should compliment them and assure them we are back of them," Judge Dawson reminded the members of the class. "A pat on the back is worth more than a raise in salary."

Nodaway County is now recognized as the driest spot in Missouri, George Pat Wright, prosecuting attorney, said. The bootlegger has learned this to his sorrow and is avoiding this county, Mr. Wright said.

Citizens Govern Enforcement.

However, the officers of this or any other conty cannot enforce the law beyond what the people, in their own hearts, want it enforced, the prosecutor reminded his audience.

Discussing the so-called "crime waves," Mr. Wright said that this is an admission there is more wickedness, more evil, more lawlessness and more vice than before the "wave" began. Therefore, it is a confession that there is sweeping over this country a laxity in moral standards.

"If this is true, I wonder if we can determine what is causing this laxity," Mr. Wright asked. "I think I am safe in saying that 90 per cent of those brought into court before Judge Dawson are under 25 years of age, and a very great per cent are under 23 or 24 years of age. Thus it would seem that something is wrong with the young people of our country.

Home Life Slipping.

"Good solid, substantial character is built in the home and I believe the trouble in our country today is in the home. The parents have yielded to modern conditions to such an extent that they have permitted their boys and girls to slip from the influence of that old-fashioned home that develops stability and character.

"In former days, the boy and girl who stayed at home with their parents were said to be 'tied to their mother's apron strings.' I believe this country would be better off today if more of our boys and girls were tied to their mothers' apron strings. In this modern day, our boys and girls are not living at the place they call home. They are living on the streets, in automobiles and elsewhere."

Woodshed Good Court.

Mr. Wright, in discussing the juvenile courts, said that when he was a boy the juvenile court was the woodshed and that it seemed to do its work well.

"The solution of our crime waves can be found in the homes of our country for stability of character is made in the homes," the prisecuting attorney concluded.

ZIEGLER BACK FROM CAPITOL

SAYS SENTIMENT IN FAVOR OF PRACTICAL COURSES.

FOR EDUCATION SECY.

Would Provide Central Agency For Research Maryville Superintendent Points Out Today.

What to teach and what not to teach was one of the most important subjects discussed at the meeting of the superintendents division of the National Education Association at Washington, D. C., last week, according to L. E. Ziegler, superintendent of the Maryville public schools, who returned home Saturday after attending the four-day meeting at the national capital.

There is a growing sentiment among the educators of the country for the more practical "bread-and-butter" courses in the curricula of the schools, Mr. Ziegler believes. These courses include manual arts, domestic science, home economics, electricity, engineering, etc., courses which would better fit the boy or girl to make a living after being graduated from school. The "cultural courses," including English, Latin, literature, history, etc., should be offered as electives to the students who desire to go on to college, the educators believe.

In other words, there is a tendency among the educational leaders of the country to put more emphasis on the "practical" courses and not so much on the "cultural" ones, Mr. Ziegler said.

At the meeting last week there was pronounced sentiment for the creation of a Secretary of Education in the President's cabinet.

"Eduaction is the biggest business in our country today," Mr. Ziegler said. "It is bigger than commerce, bigger than the army or navy. Then, why shouldn't this great business of education be represented in our government?"

This Secretary of Education would provide a central agency for research work in education, the Maryville superintendent pointed out. The new cabinet officer could direct the gathering of information regarding the schools of the country, which is now done by a number of institutions. The Secretary of Education would also replace the many governmental agencies now actively participating in a number of phases of instruction, such as agriculture, home economics, etc.

It must not be understood, however, that the Secretary of Education would provide a uniform curriculum for schools throughout the United States. What would be well suited to students in Missouri would not be for boys and girls in California. Even in Missouri, different localities would place emphasis on different subjects. In Joplin, for instance, the schools might emphasize subjects concerning mining while in Maryville, agriculture might be emphasized and little attention paid to mining.

About ten thousand educators attended the meeting in Washington, Mr. Ziegler said. Superintendent Condon of Cincinnati was elected president of the superintendents' division of the association. The place of the meeting next year has not yet been chosen although Dallas, Tex., Birmingham, Ala., Chicago and Philadelphia have asked for it.

PREACHES ON IMMIGRATION

AMERICANIZATION IS URGED BY DR. C. C. JAMES.

"CHURCH MUST HELP"

Pastor Takes to Task Those Who Call Immigrants "Scum of The Earth."

Americanization of Old World emigrants to the United States by example and education rather than by force, was urged by Dr. C. C. James, pastor of the First Methodist Church, in a sermon yesterday morning upon "Some Phases of Americanization."

"Our task is to 'sell' America to the world, then keep it sold," said Doctor James. "You cannot force Americanization on any person, any more than you can force religion upon people."

The pastor's text was found in Hebrews 13:1-2—"Let brotherly love continue. Be not forgetful to entertain strangers; for thereby some have entertained angels unawares."

"There are always two classes among our immigrants, the educated and the uneducated," Doctor James pointed out. "The adult, with fixed character, meeting with ideals of institutions different from what he used to know and finding a different religious atmosphere, has many battles to fight, while the child is easily taught the American ideals.

Has Sensitive Shyness.

"Consider the experience of the immigrant who comes to our land," he urged. "He comes to a land where customs are different. There is a sensitive shyness about him, as a stranger in a strange land. He has three things to learn: the language, the customs and the matter of employment. He is exploited by labor agencies.

"Still," the pastor declared, "if he is not going to be an American, he ought to go back to his own land."

The sermon took to task those who have called immigrants the "scum of the earth."

"Let us see what they have done," he urged. "Take Copernicus: his discovery of the heliocentric system in the study of astronomy. Count Pulaski, an aide of General George Washington. Paderewski, the first president of Poland and a great musician. All these are Poles.

"Look then at sunny Italy, with Virgil, Horace, Cicero, Michael Angelo. Then look at classic and beautiful Greece. There was Homer, the story writer of ancient times; among the warriors, Alexander the Great; Pericles, the great orator. How dare we call the people with such possibilities the "scum of the earth?"

Suggested Means.

Dr. James urged utilization of the immigrant's natural love for America as a means of Americanization and the education of both adults and children. He suggested the establishing of friendships and good understandings; scientific social methods, the extending of financial and legal aid that will "really help."

Community "sings" and pageants to help create an American atmosphere for the immigrant were recommended, together with classes for mothers in domestic science.

Doctor James told of a school in Springfield, Mass., where immigrants are invited to educational dinners in American ways and customs.

"The church must play an important part in this work," the pastor declared. "Americanism must be Christian."

Discussing a movement to stop the congregation of immigrants in the larger cities and instead to distribute them throughout the rural districts, Doctor James read the following poem, from "Carmina" by T. A. Daly:

Da Sweeta Soil.

All weenter-time I work for deeg
Da tranch een ceety street,
An' I looka like da peeg
An' sma jus' bout as sweet,

1ST CANDIDATE MAKES FILING

ALFRED WALTON IN RACE FOR COUNTY CLERK.

ON REPUBLICAN TICKET

Aspirant Is Superintendent of Ravenwood Consolidated School District.

The first gun of the 1926 political campaign boomed gently Saturday afternoon when Alfred Walton, superintendent of the Ravenwood consolidated schools filed his candidacy with County Clerk Fred Smith for the office of county clerk, subject to the Republican primary in August.

The primaries are yet five months off, and Mr. Walton is the first to announce as an avowed candidate for any county office. As the date draws nearer, the filings are expected to come with increasing frequency, until there is a rat-tat-tat as of machine gun fire.

Mr. Walton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walton of Skidmore and brother of the Rev. T. M. Walton of Pickering, C. E. Walton of Maryville and George W. Walton, now cashier of the Peoples Bank of Edenburg, Tex., but at one time cashier of the Bank of Elmo. The candidate is well known in Maryville, as he lived at 615 South Walnut street for two years while attending the State Teachers College.

Mr. Walton is superintendent of the Sunday School of the Ravenwood Christian Church.

He expects to attend the State Teachers College this summer to continue his work toward a Bachelor of Science degree.

The primary election will be held on Aug. 3. At that time nominations will be made for the following county offices:

County clerk, circuit clerk, probate judge, recorder, prosecuting attorney, public administrator, three members of the county court, representative.

The "dope" at this time indicates that the following will be candidates for re-election:

Mrs. Mamie Clardy for recorder; Judge Jesse F. Robertson for probate judge; Virgil Rathbun for circuit clerk; George Pat Wright for prosecuting attorney; and Wm. Job for representative.

Fred Wright may run for the Democratic nomination for county clerk.

Members of the county court, Judges E. T. Bailey, Charles S. Armstrong and J. N. Billingsley, are undecided whether they will be candidates again.

OIL WELL TO BE SUNK SOON

G. H. BOSE, BRECKENRIDGE WILL MAKE QUITMAN TEST.

PRICE IS AGREED UPON

Contract, However, Is Only Tentative Until After Incorporation Is Completed.

A tentative contract with G. H. Rose of Breckenridge, Mo., for the drilling of an oil well between Quitman and Skidmore was made Saturday afternoon at the meeting of the directors of the Quitman Oil and Gas Co.

Only a tentative contract could be made because incorporation of the company had not been completed. Articles of agreement were filed, this morning, however, with Mrs. Mamie Clardy county recorder, and it is believed that the other steps in incorporation can be completed in two or three days.

As soon as the legal requirements have been met, Rose will be notified and he will ship his rig immediately. Actual drilling is expected to be under way within two weeks.

Present plans call for sinking the well on the Monroe Sharp farm, but the location may be changed.

Rose will drill the first 1,700 feet for $4.25 a foot. For the next three hundred feet, if it be necessary to drill deeper, he will receive $5 a foot, and for all drilling between the 2,000 and 3,000-foot levels, he will be paid $5.50 a foot.

Under this contract, a 1,700 foot-well which the company's most sanguine stockholders believe will be sufficient will cost $7,225. If it is necessary to drill to the 2,000 foot level the well will cost $8,725.

The driller agrees to drill the well at his own risk. He will be the loser in case of accidents.

The Quitman Oil and Gas Co. is to be incorporated with a capital stock of $20,000 of which half is fully paid in, according to the articles of agreement.

English Newspaper Says United States Is Installing Eight-Inch Anti-Aircraft Guns.

London, March 1.—The United States leads the world in possession of naval vessels, according to statistics published in the Blue Book today.

The Blue Book gives the totals of naval vessels as follows:

United States	543
Great Britain	444
Japan	222
Italy	247
France	219
Russia	176
Germany	87

The United States is listed as possessing 309 destroyers, while Britain has 172. The American submarines number 120 to Great Britain's 56, Japan's 31, France's 15 and Italy's 14.

London, March 1.—England is aroused today over the question of naval strength.

Not only has the government issued a blue book, giving statistics showing that the United States possesses more naval vessels than Great Britain but the Evening News is headlining "New Naval Disclosures."

Under a banner headline reading, "Secrets of United States Battleships Revealed," the Evening News declares that it has learned that the battleships Maryland, West Virginia, Colorado, Arizona and Pennsylvania are being fitted with eight-inch guns each.

"The installations of the new guns indicates the increased importance which is now being attached in the United States to the defense of warships from aerial attacks," The Evening News states.

The newspaper laid great emphasis on the statement in the blue book that five American battleships are being equipped with five-inch anti-aircraft guns, capable of attacking airplanes at a height of six miles. It is stated these guns are the most powerful of their kind afloat and the press declares that Great Britain's navy is woefully weak in this respect, being equipped with four-inch anti-aircraft guns.

No Better Citizen Than Christian Man, Prather

Baptist Minister Says Church Should Honor Civil Authority, As From God.

"There can be no better citizen than the intelligent, devoted Christian man," the Rev. Guy L. Prather told his congregation at the First Baptist Church yesterday morning, speaking on "Christian Citizenship."

The minister said that the church should honor civil authority as from God, even though it be heathen and often wrong.

"No church should seek to control the government, elect its officials, enact its laws, or use public funds," he said. "It should encourage public honesty, obedience to law, and honor civil authority."

Mr. Prather said it is a legal and moral duty to pay taxes to the government. "Only a dishonest man will seek to avoid it. Government is always expensive. There may be some graft. But there are so many worthy undertakings and benefits—order, protection, improvements in roads, schools, health, postal service."

In speaking of the debt of submission and obedience citizens owe their government, the speaker told of lawlessness in the country today.

"Think of the tendencies to lawlessness. Our federal crime business increased more than 500 per cent from 1912 to 1924. Our papers are full of crime news. Our courts are full. Our jails are full. The cost is ten billion dollars a year, enough to make our country a network of hard-surfaced roads. Twelve times the cost of the army and navy! It equals all foreign debts to the United States, and is many times the amount spent on all educational projects. What wonderful results could be obtained if this money were turned into business and education."

"My baby brother just smacks over a apple, anyway, instead of eatin' it, so it was all right to give him the half with the worm in it."

"Copyright, 1925, Pub's Syndicate."

Mr. Prather said that many things lead to lawlessness—justice delayed and thwarted, abuses in political campaigns, evil men in high places, ridicule of law in minor matters by good citizens, broken home life through multitudinous clubs, less home religion, and divorce.

In speaking of making Christ supreme, the speaker said, "No church should seek to enforce its beliefs by law. Its forces are moral and spiritual. Abuse of this has often brought great wrong and cruelty, as between Christians and Mahommedans. But Christian men should act as Christians everywhere—in law, in court, in office, in home."

Says That Moses Was Thoroughly Scientific

Rev. R. E. Musgrave Says He Was A Great Leader And A Great Jurist.

Moses was thoroughly scientific, the Rev. R. E. Musgrave, pastor of the First Christian Church, told his congregation yesterday morning.

A great effort has been made among the infidels to undermine the work of Moses and to disprove many of the things done by this famous Biblical character, the minister said:

"Moses was a great leader; he led the children of Israel out of the darkness into light. Moses understood the science of medicine for he warned against the eating of certain animals which are now recognized in that country as poisonous.

"Moses was a great jurist because he laid down the greatest law of all times, the Ten Commandments. Lawyers of today marvel at the greatness and justice of these commandments. All of this knowledge was scientific. Yes, Moses was thoroughly scientific."

Inventory Shows Progress Has Touched All Missouri Activies

By G. V. Kenton.
Editor St. Louis News Service.

At this time, when Missourians are seeking to attract unusual attention to the products of our state through observance of "Missouri Products Week," it would be well for us to take an inventory to see how we stand.

To the person who has been in a position to observe the varied activities of Missouri in the past two years or more, it is evident there is an awakening. A progressive movement that has been gathering force from month to month is having a visible effect in the construction of good roads, passage of bond issues for new schools, waterworks, sewer systems, factories and other public improvements.

These progressive ideas likewise have exhibited themselves in private enterprises in various ways. Agriculture is witnessing new developments. Farmers are turning from wheat and corn crops and trying their hands successfully at fruits and vegetables with far greater monetary returns. In the Ozark region, cereals are giving way to strawberries, onions, cucumbers, tomatoes and other profit-paying crops. In turn canning factories and marketing associations are springing up.

The livestock industry also is undergoing a quiet transformation. Through the influence of the State College of Agriculture, chambers of commerce, various stock breeders' and cow testing associations, the standards of herds are being gradually raised.

In many areas progressive citizens are banding themselves together, city and farm, to promote the best interests of their communities. Organizations are being developed to advertise Missouri's attractiveness to tourists and new settlers. Examples of such groups are the Ozarks Chamber of Commerce, recently formed to advertise 14 Missouri counties, and the Missouri Association, which has been sponsored largely through the Press Association of Missouri.

Developments then are apparent in city, town and country. Spurred on by loyal and progressive Missouri newspapers and by the work of groups of energetic citizens and associations, the state is being made to realize it must take its place in the march of progress. The long-preached sermons on state pride and Missouri's resources are having their effect. Citizens are beginning to realize they must DO and not just TALK.

In compiling an inventory, it is sufficient to say that Missouri is so well equipped with natural resources—minerals, soils, timber, climate — that she ought to be a magnet for thousands of new citizens. The time-worn statement that Missouri could support herself if a wall were built around her border, still holds good and with more truth than ever, for our state produces those substantial products on which the human race depends for existence. But Missouri does not desire to build a Chinese wall around her boundaries. She wishes to welcome all who want to come from other points to enjoy her prosperity; and she wants no barriers to interfere with the shipment of her surplus output to less productive sections of our nation.

The one big, glaring fault with Missouri has been its lack of advertising; the need of its citizens to become more ardent boosters. Boosting does not mean going into ecstasies and making extravagant and distorted statements of praise. It means 100 per cent confidence in a community and the sincere expression of this belief when the opportunity arises.

The Missourian who is skeptical about his own state should get out and see the world that lies around him. He will come back a wiser man and a Missouri booster, for this state will stand up under comparison with any in the Union.

Our inventory shows Missouri's shelves are loaded with goods. They merely need to be sold. Just as no storekeeper in these modern days can build up a great trade without advertising his wares, so no state can become great without letting the world know of its attractiveness.

Which means there must be more unified support of organized effort to boost our state; we must not only advertise in newspapers and magazines, but you and I and all our neighbors must talk more about Missouri's good points. Let us boost our own communities but not forget to have a word of praise for our state.

The large cities, such as St. Louis, Kansas City, Springfield, St. Joseph, Hannibal and Sedalia have learned the lesson that no city should try to live unto itself. They are reaching out and trying to help the state grow. Let us all pull together, for the day is about to dawn for a Bigger and a Better Missouri.

Some Pointers About New Income Tax Law

Information Prepared by Officials of United States Treasury Department to Aid Taxpayers.

Your income tax for the year 1925 is less, in proportion to your income, than was the tax for 1924. A rat reduction, however, is not the only benefit afforded by the revenue act of 1926. Increase in the exemptions and other changes in revenue legislation are of immediate interest to every taxpayer.

The revenue act of 1926 requires that returns be filed by every single person whose net income for 1925 was $1500, or more, or whose gross income was $5,000 or more, and by every married couple whose aggregate net income was $3,500 or more, or whose aggregate gross income was $5,000 or more. Last year returns were required of married couples whose aggregate net income was $2,500 or more, and of single persons whose net income was $1,000 or more. Husband and wife, living together, may include the income of each in a single joint return, or each may file a separate return showing the income of each. Net income is gross less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, contributions, etc.

The period for filing returns ends March 15, 1926. The return, accompanied by at least one-fourth of the amount of tax, must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer has his legal residence or has his principal place of business.

Senators Deny But Snuff Box Is Empty

Solons Suggest That the Ghosts of Past Senators May Be Responsible.

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—On a ledge against the wall, at one end of the vice-president's rostrum in the United States senate chamber, just alongside a door leading out into the senator's lobby, a box of snuff reposes.

Nobody can remember when that box—no, not that particular box but a box—of snuff wasn't to be found there.

As a senate institution, probably it dates back to the time when John Adams called the first senate to order. Senators quite generally took snuff then. It was fashionable.

Now not a senator can be found who admits he's a snuff addict. Yet, strange to say, the senate snuff box empties itself regularly.

Since the very dawn of America's history as a nation a page has been assigned, at the beginning of every session, to keep the box stocked up with Copenhagen snuff.

Snuff doesn't evaporate.

One of two things must be true:

1—Either some of the present-day senators do take an occasional pinch, despite their denials.

Or else:

2—The capitol's haunted by the ghosts of senators of long ago, who continue to help themselves out of that snuff box.

Kansas Jersey Cow Sets New Milk Record

3-Year-Old Tests 9,134 Pounds of Milk and 506.8 Pounds of Butter Fat in 305 Days.

Manhattan, Kans., March 1 (United Press).—A Kansas Jersey cow has made a new record in the junior three-year-old class, College Tipsy's Pog is making a record which surpassed the previous one by more than 40 pounds butter fat and 500 pounds of milk.

College Tipsy's Pogis, a 3-year-old purebred Jersey cow in the Kansas State Agricultural College herd, has recently completed a record of 9,134 pounds of milk and 506.8 pounds of butter fat in 305 days. This is the highest record ever made by a cow of this class in Kansas, the former record cow being Sultana's Alone, owned by C. H. Gilliland of Denison.

College Tipsy's Pogis not only established a new state record, but produced enough fat to qualify for a silver medal, announces R. H. Lush, college dairy specialist. In addition she was continued on test until the end of the year, making a yearly record of 10,024 pounds of milk containing 556 pounds of butter fat. She calved within 13 months of the starting of the record.

"Keep Your Eyes on the Cards," McGraw

New York Giants Manager Says St. Louis Club Will Furnish Strong Competition.

Saratoga, Fla., March 1.—(United Press).—"Keep your eyes on the St. Louis Cardinals," was the warning sounded by John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants in discussing the 1926 National League pennant race.

"Roger Hornsby has a powerful club," he said, "and the club that wins the pennant will have a lot of trouble with the Cards."

McGraw intimated that he considered the Cards as strong as the champion Pittsburgh Pirates and much more powerful than the Cincinnati Reds.

"The Pirates have a great ball club but the pitching staff is not up to the offensive strength," he said. "The Reds will have to depend too much on Luque, Rixey and Donahue and Luque may not have recovered from a recent operation."

While he would not admit it, McGraw did not deny that he thought the Giants would beat them all.

Says All Success Is Not Result of Genius

Rev. R. A. Mitchell Preaches On Superlative Greatness At M. E. Church, South, Yesterday Morning.

"People seem to take it for granted that every genius is a success and that all success is the result of genius. Nothing can be farther away from the truth," the Rev. R. A. Mitchell said in his Sunday morning sermon on "Superlative Greatness" at the M. E. Church, South.

"Webster defines genius as an intellectual and mental superiority. This country being a democracy, I reserve the right to disagree with him. Genius is almost synonymous with greatness and success—almost, but not quite. Genius is not always practical or successful."

Mr. Mitchell then cited instances of Eugene V. Debs, Aaron Burr, John Wilkes Booth, and others whose pronounced genius along certain lines led to degeneracy and the very opposite of true success.

"Success is not the result of genius; genius is not the mother of success," he said.

He told how the Bible plays up small, seemingly trival things, such as the widow's mite, and passes over with barely mention of such apparently wonderful things as the rod of Moses.

Mr. Mitchell spoke of the few who are great successes in a financial business way and said that the world notices them. "But God sees the little successes of everyday life and he notes each one of them. His crown of eternal life goes to those who did their best to serve with what they had."

Spring's about ten expectations and nine disappointments away now.

FARM MOVES MARK SEASON

MARCH 1 IS TRADITIONAL DATE FOR CHANGES.

ONE MEANS OTHERS

Vacation of a Farm Often Causes A General Shifting.—Field Man Reports Several.

March 1, traditional "moving date" among farmers is proving no exception to the rule this year. As usual, a considerable amount of shifting about is to be done this spring, and the average farmer plans to get settled in time to prepare for the early spring planting.

Some of the changes reported by Marion Smith, field man for the Democrat-Forum and Tribune, are as follows:

Ed Rickard will move to the Evans farm, south of Parnell. Mr. Rickard has lived the past year on the George Jones farm, northwest of Pickering.

Charles H. Wilson, four miles east of Maryville will move to the Jones farm vacated by Mr. Rickard.

Will Thornhill who lives four miles east of Maryville, has sold his farm of eighty acres to Walter Dickie and will move to town. Mr. Dickie will move to his new farm at once. He recently sold his farm of 120 acres, northeast of Maryville, to A. J. Walk, and Ollie Hamersky and family will move upon it.

Russell Smock, east of Maryville, will move to the R. E. Jones farm, just east of the city. Joe Wallace, who lived on the Jones farm the past year, will move across the road to the Sam Mozingo farm.

Chris Zimmerman, east of Maryville, has rented the S. D. Ditto farm, six miles east of the city, and takes possession today. C. D. Moody, who has occupied the Ditto farm, will move to the Mrs. Marsh farm, five miles east and one mile north of Maryville.

Fred Miller will move from the Thomas Farrell farm, south of Burlington Junction, to the George Alexander and Knox Alexander farm.

Mr. Thorp was born between Barnard and Bolckow. For three years he was a farmer near Maryville, but he later entered the employ of a Chicago company and for thirty-five years was a buyer of furs, hides and pelts, traveling over a large territory. He has been a resident of Maryville for thirty-seven years.

ROSENDALE TO BE MET HERE

DOUBLE-HEADER TO BE PLAYED ON THURSDAY NIGHT.

FAST GAMES EXPECTED

Maryville Girls Seems to Be in Winning Streak, Having Beaten Savannah, 23-18, Friday.

Both Maryville High School basketball teams will play here Thursday night, when the strong Rosendale High teams will be entertained on the local high school court. These games were scheduled for Friday night, but will be played on Thursday because of the session of the county religious council Friday.

The Rosendale teams are counted on to furnish strong opposition for the Maryville teams. Both the boys and girls from the Andrew County school have good records and both teams are reported as fast and accurate.

The girls' game will be the preliminary. It will start at 7:30 o'clock. Haggerty of St. Joseph will referee both games.

The Maryville High School girls seems to be in a winning streak. Heartened by their 23-18 victory over Savannah at Savannah last Friday night, they are going to work overtime this week in an effort to trim the fast Rosendale sextet Thursday.

The defeat of Savannah Friday night was the first that team had experienced on its home court. Maryville led all the way, the score at the end of the half being 15 to 7. Haggerty refereed this game. He was forced to foul the crowd once for disorderly conduct.

Both teams were off in shooting form. Miss Bookman, the Maryville coach, used but six players in the game. They were: Puckett and Captain Wray, forwards; Miller and Davis, centers; Smith and Wright, guards.

Burlington Jct. and Elmo Tourney Victors

Win Trophy Cups at Tournament Sponsored by Elmo High School Saturday.

The Burlington Junction boys and the Elmo girls won the two trophy cups in the first annual basketball tourney at Elmo, Saturday. The games were played on the new regulation sized court at Elmo.

Burlington clearly earned the boys' trophy by a display of superior basketball. Elmo and Westboro were each defeated by eleven points, the scores being 24-13 and 28-17 respectively. The final game was between Westboro and Burlington Junction.

The Elmo girls beat Hopkins by a one-sided score and swamped the Burlington Junction Jungle Janes 22 to 4 in the final game. The lone field goal of the Junction girls was made by Staples. Hall of Elmo scored all of the points for her team in the final game. The game was more interesting and bitterly contested than the score would indicate.

In a preliminary game, the Junction girls won from Westboro by an overwhelming score.

In the boys' preliminary game Elmo went down before Burlington Junction in a fast hard fought game, 24-13. The game was featured by good offense, but poor defensive playing by both teams. In the second game, Westboro won from the fast Hopkins team 27-17. The score at the half was 9 to 8 in favor of Hopkins. In the last half, Westrack, the small 15-year-old forward of Westboro won the game with an exhibition of goal shooting at both long and short range.

Ray Blomfield, of the State Teachers College, unqualified satisfaction as referee. Although the roads were in poor condition, the tourney was a success in every respect. Good sportsmanship and a high sense of fair play among the teams was favorably commented upon by the officials and coaches connected with the tournament.

ALL SET FOR FINAL GAME

WARRENSBURG PLAYS COLLEGE HERE TOMORROW NIGHT.

WILL DECIDE CHAMPION

Tilt Will Start at 8 o'Clock.—John Bunn To Referee.—Large Seat Sale.

The Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball race will end for the local Teachers College Bearcats tomorrow night when they meet the Warrensburg Mules on the local court.

The result of this meeting will determine whether the Bearcats have a clear claim to the M. I. A. A. championship, or whether they share title honors with the Springfield Bears.

The game will start at 8 o'clock. There will be no preliminary. John Bunn, former University of Kansas star, will referee. This will be the third time that Bunn has appeared in Maryville this year. He is accredited with being one of the best officials in this part of the country.

The Warrensburg team will arrive in Maryville at noon tomorrow. Coach Tad Reid now has his team in top form. Earlier in the season the Mules were handicapped by sickness of several players. This is not the case now, and the Warrensburg quintet, champions last year, may be counted on to furnish a heavy battle.

Coach H. Frank Lawrence was not certain of his starting line-up today. It is quite likely that Leon Ungles, who performed so brilliantly against Springfield last week, will be the running mate of Burks at forward, and that Captain Aldrich will not be in the starting five. Berst will pump center, and Blomfield and Joy will be guards.

The reserved seat sale for the game is progressing rapidly. Many orders have come from out of town and it is fair to believe that the new College gymnasium will be crowded.

SPORT COMMENT

The championship game in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association will be played here tomorrow night when the Warrensburg Mules meet the local State Teachers College Bearcats. This will mark the second championship game which has been played in Maryville this year. Last fall, it will be remembered, Maryville and Springfield played here for the football championship.

If Maryville wins tomorrow night, she will have a clear claim to the title. If Warrensburg wins, there will be a conference tie between Maryville and Springfield.

Dope favors the Bearcats, but dope is as unstable as a weather report. Earlier in the season, the locals won from Warrensburg at Warrensburg, 47 to 21. That is why those who are so brave as to forecast say that Maryville will win.

Springfield climbed a bit higher in percentage Friday night by winning from Cape Girardeau at Springfield, 39 to 16. A rally in the second half gave the Bears the one-sided victory. At the half they led by a bare 2 points, the score being 12 to 10.

The game here tomorrow night will be the last of the conference season. Later, the Bearcats will meet the Schooleys of Kansas City.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bancroft of Clearmont are spending the day in Maryville.

Howard Bancroft and son of Clearmont were business visitors in Maryville today.

Maryville Places Three On All-Star M. I. A. A. Team by Pearson

With the M. I. A. A. basketball season almost over, the picking of all-star quintets has already begun. John Pearson, sports editor of the Springfield leader has chosen his cage combination. He placed three Maryville players, Burks, Berst, and Joy on the first team, and Ray Blomfield on the second team. Following is the story of his all-star team:

The task of selecting the all-star teams this year in the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association was made easy due to the fact that there are a number of outstanding players in the circuit.

Carl Davis, captain of the Southwest Missouri State Teachers college Bears, is without doubt the outstanding player in the M. I. A. A.. Davis is not only an all-round player, but has been the backbone of the Bear varsity throughout this season.

Paired with Davis at the other first team forward position is Paul Burks, Maryville freshman, who has developed rapidly this season under the tutelage of Coach H. Frank "Shorty" Lawrence.

Burks is a good floorman, can handle the ball in a brilliant manner, and hits the goal consistently from all angles. He has been one of Maryville's big threats throughout the season.

At center is Armin Soph, of Warrensburg. Although he got off to a slow start this season, due to illness, Soph, is the outstanding center of the M. I. A. A.

Soph plays the center position regularly, and has not been shifted from one position to another as have most of the other centers in the league. He has been one of Warrensburg's best bets since he got back in the lineup and his work despite his weakened condition, has been very good.

Gordon Joy and Donald Berst, of Maryville, are the unanimous selections for the guard positions. Although Berst is listed as a center he seldom ever actually jumps center, but started at guard. He is a fast floor man and a swift, head player.

The same can be said of Joy. Both Joy and Berst have a habit of dropping long ones in critical moments, and can put up a real fight on the defense.

Ray Blomfield, of Maryville, is given the center position on the second M. I. A. A. team. Blomfield is a good tip-off man and a hard man to get around on the defense. However, he is not a consistent scorer and therefore could not be placed ahead of Soph, of Warrensburg.

Carl Fox, of Springfield, and L. Craig, of Kirksville, get the second team assignments. Fox has developed rapidly under the efficient coaching of Andrew McDonald this season and should land on the first team next year. He has been a consistent scorer for the Bears and is a hard man to stop.

L. Craig has been one of Kirksville's scoring threats throughout the season and is undoubtedly one of the best forwards in the M. I. A. A.

Teddy Munford, of Springfield, and Lee White, of Warrensburg, are given the second team guard positions. Mumford, although not one of the type of stars who consistently "twinkle," has played a strong defensive game for the Bears this season and ranks among the leading defense men of the circuit.

White, because of his height, scoring ability and good floor work, is the unanimous choice for the other guard position. In fact, one or two coaches were in favor of placing White on the first team. However, Joy and Berst rank higher in all-round ability than the star Warrensburg guard.

A number of men are given honorable mention, their work during the season being especially good. Competition has been keen this year in the M. I. A. A. and much interest has been shown in practically every game at all points.

The all-star selections are as follows:

Honorable Mention—Mahew, Cape Girardeau; Simmons, Kirksville; Aldrich, Maryville; Eggert, Kirksville; Ward, Springfield; Norris, Kirksville; Ungles, Maryville; Ray Britton, Springfield; Kiehne, Cape Girardeau.

M. I. A. A. Standings.

How Skinny Kids Gain Needed Weight

Weak, undernourished, underweight boys and girls who are peevish, fretful and sickly need McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Cod Liver Oil would do just as well, but what parent would be so cruel as to give them the horrible nasty tasting, ill smelling stuff, when sugar coated cod liver oil tablets made by McCoy's Laboratories of New York are as easy to take as candy and won't upset their delicate stomachs.

There's more vitamines of the first class in cod liver oil than in anything else and for that reason thin, scraggly, sickly children commence to liven up and take on good healthy flesh after McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets have been taken for just a few days.

Be sure and ask Gaugh & Evans or any druggist for McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablets, if you want your delicate children to become strong, robust and active.

For grown-ups they are just as wonderful—one woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks. 60 tablets 60 cents and if they don't put 5 pounds of good firm flesh on any thin man or woman in 30 days, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.—Adv.

Gasoline and Corn

A bushel of corn will buy more gasoline today than it would buy twelve years ago.

How much more?

Using as authority the latest statistics published by the United States Department of Agriculture, the question can be answered accurately.

The Monthly Crop and Market Bulletin gives the average farm price of corn, for 1913, as $.601 per bushel.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) average Chicago tank wagon price for gasoline, for the year 1913, was $.14837 per gallon. (For comparative purposes we select Chicago as a representative city of the Middle West.)

Thus it is shown that in 1913 one bushel of corn would buy 4.05 gallons of gasoline.

The average farm price for corn, during the year 1925, was $1.019 per bushel.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) average Chicago tank wagon price for gasoline was $.17276 per gallon.

Thus it is shown that in 1925 one bushel of corn would buy 5.89 gallons of gasoline, or 45.4% more than in 1913.

This fact speaks volumes for Standard Oil Company (Indiana) success in keeping down the price of gasoline, in the face of a constantly increasing demand.

This accomplishment involved the development of cracking processes which doubled the yield of gasoline from a given quantity of crude oil.

It is not too much to say that, when, a few years ago, this nation faced a shortage of gasoline that these processes saved the situation.

Without them the price of gasoline probably would have been double what it is today.

After developing these processes, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) did not keep them for its exclusive use. It leased them to competitors, that they also might do their bit in conserving an essential basic resource.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that the farmer, particularly, appreciates its success and its persistent effort to keep the price of gasoline low.

Gasoline is essential to the business of farming. Without it, modern farm practice would be impossible and much of our up-to-date farm equipment would be useless. Without it, labor costs would advance enormously; crops would be jeopardized and the nation suffer.

Low price gasoline means cheap power and greater prosperity for the farmer. When the farmer prospers—we all prosper.

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN, because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Springfield where the theater is. The stub is traced to THOMAS FOGARTY, a political boss, who says he gave it to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints when she learns police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lifting Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Springfield and later is attacked at night by two men, but escapes.

"The chicken has flown the coop," said O'Day.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Mary tells Jimmy this when they meet and he, trying to hurt her, accuses her of marrying for money.

That evening Jimmy and Olga see, in an auto, a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his attackers. The man and his companion escape. Later they recognize his police picture as that of IKE JENSON.

Church, out driving with Mary runs over a dog. His heartlessness kindles hatred in her and she breaks their engagement. The next day he attempts a reconciliation at her office but fails. On the street he encounters Jimmy, who offers his hand in congratulation. Church snarls and turns away.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIX.

Jimmy Rand stood in his tracks where Church had left him. Bafflement was written in every line of his face. His hand was still half extended; he shoved it into his pocket.

"Well I'll be," he exclaimed. "What a nice boy he is. I swallow my pride and try to offer my congratulations and he snaps at me like a bear."

Chance, and the necessity of making some deliveries, had brought him to the neighborhood at this particular time. He had just come out of an office building and was about to climb into the truck when he saw Church, and, thinking in view of what he had said to Mary Lowell that he owed it to her, at least, to show he was a good sport, he had fought down his natural aversion to Church and offered his hand in congratulation.

He said aloud, his eye still on Church's retreating figure: "Well, at least, if you don't like me you're quite honest about it. I'm darn glad you feel that way about it. So do I."

He climbed into the automobile and pressed his foot against the starter. Ahead of him he saw Church, standing with one foot on the running board of his roadster and conversing with another man. Jimmy had never seen the other before and decided that he was not exactly a prepossessing figure. He had no overcoat and his coat collar was turned up. From where Jimmy sat it looked very much as if the man also needed a shave.

While Rand sat watching, the man climbed into the machine with Church and the two drove off together.

Jimmy drove away, his eyes still following Church and his companion. The press of automobiles set up a deafening roar, so he did not hear Mary Lowell's voice calling to him from the sidewalk. If he had not been gazing so fixedly ahead of him, he would have seen her wave to him.

She took a few quick steps, as if she were going to run after him. Then, apparently thinking better of it, she slackened her pace and turned homeward.

* * *

Lieutenant O'Day hung up the telephone receiver, shoved the phone across his desk and then lifted his head to find Jimmy Rand facing him.

"What luck, Lieutenant?"

"Luck? Lots of luck, my lad, but all of it bad." O'Day leaned back in his swivel chair and laughed boisterously at his own wit.

"Sit down, Rand." He indicated a chair for Jimmy.

"First of all, though," said Jimmy, ignoring the proffered seat, "have you got a line on Jensen?"

O'Day waved his hand. "The chicken," said he, "has flown the coop. But sit down, Lad, I want to tell you about it."

Jimmy took the chair. "Smoke?" he offered a cigaret to O'Day and lit one himself.

"No smokin' on duty," said the lieutenant, declining the offer. "Besides I never touched a cigaret in my life, and it's too late to begin."

"A cigar, then, for after midnight." Jimmy produced two from his pocket and laid them on the other man's desk.

The smell of tobacco smoke was too much for O'Day, so he decided to woo Lady Nicotine in another form. From a desk drawer he pulled forth a package of "chewing," the kind commonly known as "scrap." With his fingers he extracted an amazing amount of the stuff and thrust it carefully in his mouth.

"There now," he said comfortably, settling back in his chair. "Smoke and be darned."

He swung around to face his caller. "Rand, we've looked for Jensen high and low and we're no better off than when we started."

"You think he left town?"

"Either that or he's layin' low somewhere, where we're not apt to find him."

"Tell me just how far you've gone," Jimmy urged.

"Well, to begin with, we started at that house where Jensen and the other bird with him got away from you. The house is vacant and has been for some time. It seems the school board has condemned it and several other houses near it. They're going to put up a new school building pretty soon. That's why we didn't seen any for rent sign on it.

"If only there'd been somebody living there, we might have got a line on Jensen and his companion, whoever it was, right away. That was the first piece of hard luck we ran into.

"Then we got hold of some of the boys Jensen has been known to hang out with—hard-boiled eggs, the lot of them, too—but they all swore they hadn't seen him for a long time. We found the rooming house where he had been living, but he had cleared out of there—the very night you saw him—taking all his belonging's with him."

"And that's all?"

"Well, it's not all we did. "We watched the railroad stations to try to keep him from leavin' town. But he might have slipped away in an automobile. It's nothin' for those guys to steal a car any time they want to use one."

"And how about the stolen car they had that night? You said it had been traced to a man named Kennedy."

"That's right. An' I sent for Kennedy. When he came in, I showed him Jensen's picture an' asked him if he had ever seen him before. 'No,' he says, 'I've never laid an eye on him.'

" 'When, I says, 'did you lose the car? Where was it stolen from?'

" 'Why,' he says, 'the wife an' I were to a picture show. When we came out it was gone.' Kennedy didn't help us a bit."

"And where had this man Jensen been working? Did you learn that?"

"Why, he hadn't been workin' at all, as far as we could find out. The woman who runs the roomin' house where he stayed said he came an' went at all hours. He couldn't have had any regular job. He had plenty of dough, too—he must have pulled off a job lately. The landlady says the last time he paid his room rent he peeled off a roll of bills that would choke a horse.

Jimmy laughed. "Evidently he finds his game, whatever it is, a profitable one."

He leaned forward in his chair. "You know," he began eagerly, "I don't want to jump at conclusions or anything, but the fact that he has a lot of money lends some strength to the theory that he may have been hired to murder my father."

O'Day frowned. "No use guessin' about that, Rand."

"Guessing is about all we can do, Lieutenant."

"It was the Maynard girl who had that hunch, wasn't it? By the way, Rand," and O'Day shook an accusing forefinger at Jimmy, "you're not fallin' for that woman, are you?"

Jimmy laughed; his face reddened. "Why, what makes you ask that?"

"I'm askin' you. Are you?" O'Day's finger was still pointing.

"No Lieutenant, I'm not falling for her, as you say."

"And why not? Why shouldn't I fall for her if I wanted to?" He fumbled for another cigaret. It would be my own business, wouldn't it?"

"Rand, let me tell you somethin'." O'Day leaned forward and spoke with earnestness. "Im a lot older than you—old enough to be your father. I've got kids of my own, though none of them is as big as you. Now, I tell you. I like you, see? I liked you almost from the moment I saw you when you came in here an' told me why you were in Springfield.

"You're an intelligent lad, an' you look a man in the eye when you talk to him. You're game, an' you're nice lookin' with it."

"Why, thank you, Lieutenant." Jimmy was ill at ease. He plucked the cigaret nervously from his mouth.

"Let me finish. As I say, I like the looks of you. Now don't go throwin' yourself away on any girl that's not good enough for you. If you'd told me you'd fallen in love with this Maynard woman I'd kept my mouth shut. But you said you hadn't, an' I believe you. You said it wasn't any of my business, Rand. You're right, but let me tip you off to a few things.

"In the first place, this girl's gotten under your skin. You're sorry for her, an' they say—don't they?—that pity's akin to love, or something like that. You don't believe she's mixed up in any way in your father's murder. Maybe you're right; she tells a pretty straight story. But I always say like the French do in a case like this: 'Cherchie la femmie,' which is their way of saying look for the woman."

"I'm afraid that's Dublin French," laughed Jimmy. "Cherchez la femme, Lieutenant."

"I can't say them foreign words," O'Day dismissed the correction with a wave of his hand. "Now, Rand, this girl is commencing to fall in love with you, or I'm still a harness bull."

"No, no, you're mstaken. She's trying to help me, that's all."

"I know what I'm talkin' about. You steer clear of her, Rand. She's been travelin' around in bad company, as no respectable woman should do. She's been mixed up in a divorce case as co-respondent, an' some kid who tried to kill himself not so very long ago is thought to have lost his head over her. You go slow, Rand. Some day the right little girl will come along. Then you'll be glad you've listened to me."

"Nothing you've said, Lieutenant, has made any difference in the way I feel toward her. No matter what she has been, she has been trying to go straight now. But I'm not in love with her. You need't have worried about it."

"I was just tryin' to help you, Lad."

"I appreciate it. If anybody else had said the things you've just said, I'd have shut him up. I wouldn't have listened. But coming from you it's different. Listen, Lieutenant, I want to tell you something in confidence. I've got to tell somebody. Can I?"

"You sure can, Lad. Shoot."

Piano Mover Claims He Lost by Dyeing Attempt

Los Angeles, March 1.—The Samson of biblical fame has a modern counterpart in J. Robinson, piano mover, according to court action.

Robinson filed suit for $25,430 damages against Miss Augusta Arntzen, beauty specialist and her assistant, L. Pearman.

He claims he went to Miss Artzen's beauty parlor to get his gray hair dyed brown. During the treatment, he alleges, his scalp was severely burned, he lost his hair and was deprived of his strength to move pianos.

Alimony Bureau Would Aid Divorced Wives

Chicago Jurist Suggests Method Where Husbands Would Have Central "Paying" Agency.

Chicago, March 1.— Chicago's divorcees will be relieved of the burden of collecting alimony from erring husbands if the plan of Judge Joseph Sabath is adopted by the county board.

Under the plan proposed by the noted divorce jurist, an "alimony bureau" would be established to which husbands would be required to make their payments, the money then be turned over to the divorcees. If the husbands should become delinquent the bureau would prosecute.

The plan, Judge Sabath pointed out, would relieve divorcees from the necessity of engaging lawyers to force their estranged husbands to pay up.

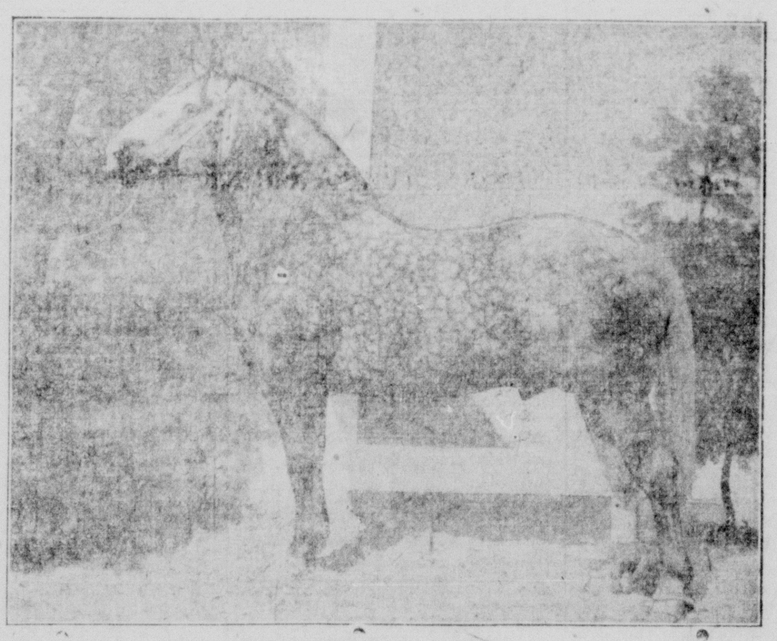
PURE-BRED HORSES AND GENERAL FARM SALE



PHENIX 42215

Will sell at public auction at the farm 4 miles South of Maryville, Mo., on

FRIDAY, MARCH 5th, 1926

Beginning at 10 o'clock a. m., the following described property, to-wit:

About 25 head of pure-bred horses, viz.: 20 Percherons, 5 Standard and Saddle-bred; and a few Shetland Ponies. This stock is all extra well bred and runs from weanlings to mature stock.

Among the lot is an outstanding Percheron Stallion (5 coming 3), fit to head any pure-bred herd. He has the "size and quality" both, with excellent and extra heavy bone, cleanest of big joints, and what is more, no draft colt (or horse if you please) has more natural style and action. He is simply a wonderful colt, the making of a great horse, the kind that have always been scarce. Selling him at a general farm sale, with only local advertising, the buyer is going to get a bargain at whatever he sells for. You might canvass many states and not find his equal. I can not describe each one here, space forbids, but attention is called to a good black 6-year Stallion, out of imported sire and dam, that is ready to make the big seasons that are sure now approaching.

The Old Champion Sire, PHENIX, will be offered, and because of his career, I will reserve the right to reject the bid on him, because of sentiment. He is still a great stock horse despite his years, but of course the bloom of younger days has gone.

The other young stallion colts in the lot will develop into good horses. There are some splendid work and brood mares and fillies, by Phenix (or in foal to him). The blood of Imported Kroiseur, son of the great Carnot, is also well infused in this bunch of Percherons. Two bay saddle fillies, 2 and 3 years old will please you. My saddle mare, that I have ridden myself for some time, will please you.

In short this is a lot of good useful stock and no better breeding anywhere. With the "new era" of the horse business already dawning, they are bound to do the buyer good. You can buy them at your own price, except as to PHENIX, as stated above. Will also sell line of farm implements, cows, calves and corn.

R. P. HOSMER, Auctioneer.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, March 1.—Grain prices closed sharply lower on the Chicago Board of Trade today, with wheat leading the downward movement.

A heavy long interest appeared in the wheat pit and selling became general as the market progressed. Private estimates of the farm wheat stocks were bullish, as expected, but the technical market situation over shadowed this factor and prices continued in their down swing gaining in momentum until the close when the drop was severe. The close in May wheat—new, was at $1.59 a bushel, off 6½ cents.

Corn prices responded to the down turn in wheat and fell 2⅜ to 2¾ cents. Receipts were somewhat heavier than expected.

Trading in oats continued dull but prices eased off as the drop in wheat prices became more acute. The close was at losses of 1⅛ to 1½ cents.

Provisions closed lower with grains.

Controversy Over League Council Has Dealt Death Blow To Geneva Conference.

Washington, March 1.—The widely-heralded disarmament conference, which the League of Nations hastened to call when it appeared President Coolidge was on the verge of inviting the powers to Washington has just been packed away in moth balls so far as this government is concerned.

While officials publicly refer to the proposed conference as being in a state of suspended animation, actually they know it has been suspended into the hazy future and in the meantime there have arisen complications of such a nature as to arouse serious doubts whether the conference ever will materialize.

Meanwhile, the American government is in an awkard position. Having accepted the League's invitation, President Coolidge has tied his own hands in the matter of initiating another conference.

The controversy over the enlargement of the League Council, which has grown so serious that it threatens to cause the resignation, is considered here to have dealt the proposed Geneva confererce its death blow.

Washington officials attribute the situation to the crafty statesmanship of the French premier, Aristide Briand. France has consistently opposed the holding of another disarmament conference.

Spelling Bee Will Be Held at Church Here

An old-fashioned spelling bee will be given tomorrow night at the First Methodist Church under the auspices of Mrs. Warren Jones' division of the Ladies Aid Society.

Plans Now Complete for Clark Memorial

Frederick C. Hubbard, Missouri's Native Sculptor, To Have Charge of Work.—Will Cost $25,000.

Bowling Green, Mo., March 1.—Plans are completed for the erection of the Champ Clark memorial to stand near the courthouse in his home town as Missouri's monument to the late speaker of the House of Representatives.

Frederick C. Hubbard, Missouri's native sculptor, will carve the work which will be erected at a cost of $25,000 by special appropriation of the last session of the Missouri Legislature.

Plans are in charge of a memorial committee, named by the legislature. The design will show the late speaker in a characteristic pose in a Prince Albert coat.

Audience Pleased by Orchestra Concert

High School Organization Is Enthusiastically Received in Sunday Program.

An enthusiastic audience listened to the concert given by the Maryville High School orchestra yesterday afternoon in the State Teachers College auditorium. It was a generous audience—one which applauded spontaneously and which demanded encores after each group on the program.

The orchestra was unusually well balanced. Thirty-five students make up the organization, which could be larger but only at a sacrifice of balance. Yesterday the number was just right. No section stood out above the others, but all blended into an organization which is unusually finished for a high school group.

The program was varied. The Raymond Overture and selections from the present-day "Student Prince" were perhaps more pleasing than any others to the audience. Much credit for the success of the concert is due H. O. Hickernell, conductor.

Bernhardt Bronson, head of the voice department of the conservatory of music, was soloist at the concert yesterday. His three numbers were those of the finished singer. All were difficult and all were given in a manner which spoke of knowledge on the part of Mr. Bronson.

The concert yesterday was the second of a series being given at the College by the Maryville High School and State Teachers College bands and orchestras.

The next concert will be a week from next Sunday, March 14, and the final one will be on March 28.
